Council Favors Non-Communist Affidavit

Washington, May 19 —(AP)—Chairman David E. Lilienthal, Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) told senators today the president of the National Research Council has agreed that a non-Communist affidavit should be required from candidates for atomic fellowships.

He made the statement to a senate appropriations subcommittee which is considering the commission's request for $1,000,000 in funds for the 12 months beginning next July 1.

The fellowships are awards given to talented students to help them pursue studies in scientific fields. A furor has been stirred in congress by disclosure that a $1,000 a year fellowship has been given Hans Freistadt, an avowed Communist who is a student of nuclear physics at the University of North Carolina.

While the money comes from AEC funds, the actual award of fellowships is made by the National Research Council.

Dr. Detlev Bronk, president of Johns Hopkins university, heads the council. He was in the hearing room when Lilienthal made his statement.

Bronk's decision that non-Communist affidavits should be required would be subject to a vote of the full council.

Bronk told reporters that if congress requests it, the council will withdraw the fellowship granted to Freistadt. The fellowship is to be made effective July 1.

Freistadt indicated yesterday in a personal appearance before the joint congressional committee on atomic energy that he feels that the award of the fellowship is a contract.

Taking note of this, Bronk said it would be broken but in such event the NRC would feel obligated to raise money elsewhere to help the young Austrian-born student with his education.

Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) raised the fellowship question as soon as Lilienthal took the stand. He asked the commission how much money it had received for the fiscal year 1949, ending July 1, and is requesting $4,030,350 for fiscal year 1950.

The laugh-of-the-day yesterday was the statement by Hans Freistadt, Austrian-born Communist who has sneaked into an Atomic Energy Commission fellowship, that if his appointment is revoked by an angry congress the same thing may happen later to quote a militant New Dealer, a Progressive, or even a Republican unquote.

Right there you have a prime example of what's wrong with the U. S. A. It isn't our own people, it's the changing in the character of the people who are coming over here these days.

In olden times the newcomer to our shores arrived in a humble and thankful spirit.

Nowadays strides in spouting high-sounding words like an arrogant tramp.

Farmers Urged to Report Acreage

It is the responsibility of every farmer in Hempstead County to come to the Triple-A office and make a farm acreage report for his farm, according to B. E. McMahon, County Administrative Officer in discussing the farm acreage survey now being made in the county.

Purpose of the survey is to obtain acreage information on all farms for all crops and land uses for the years 1941 and 1945 through 1948 and plans for 1949. The reports must be submitted by or before June 30, 1949. The Triple-A office will remain open on Saturdays until 12 noon for the convenience of those farmers who are unable to come to the office any other day of the week.

All farmers in the county have been notified to come by the county office to make their reports.

Three honorary degrees will be conferred during the commencement exercises. Dr. Grant and Dr. G. E. Cannon, Hope, will receive a Doctor of Laws degree, while H. E. Williams, president of Southern Baptist College, Walnut Ridge, receives a Doctor of Divinity degree.

Cleaning Up Is Messy Job

Cleaning up after a flood is a muddy, messy, heart-breaking job. The T. J. Mason family of Fort Worth stand in knee deep water as they try to salvage belongings from their flooded homes. Water was up to the ceiling in this area.

Group to Meet and Form a Junior C of C

A group of local business men have called a meeting for 7:30 p. m. tonight at Hope city hall for the purpose of organizing a Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The group is in the process of organizing a Junior Chamber of Commerce. The group is in the process of organizing a Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Downie Named to State Board of Review

Little Rock, May 19 —(UP)—Thomas E. Downie, 34-year-old deputy prosecuting attorney of Pulaski and Perry counties, today joined the McMath administration as the new chairman of the state board of review.

Gov. McMath announced Downie's appointment to succeed Joe Martin of Jonesboro late yesterday. The young World War II veteran has been deputy prosecutor since January, 1947. He won the Silver Star, Bronze Star and Purple Heart decorations while serving in the Pacific and received a war-time promotion to lieutenant colonel.

Downie is a past first vice-commander of the state Armvets and a past district commander of the American Legion. He graduated from the University of Arkansas law school in 1939 and began his practice in Little Rock.

Martin announced his resignation last Saturday to devote more time to his insurance business in East Arkansas. He was one of McMath's lieutenants during the governor's successful campaign and has handled much of the patronage coming from the governor's office.

Aged Hempstead Resident Dies at Oak Grove

Mrs. Rebecca Ann Johnston, 93, known in Oak Grove community as "Aunt Beckie," died yesterday at the home of a nephew, Sid Skinner.

She is survived by 13 nieces and nephews. Burial will be at 3 p. m. today (Thursday) at Oak Grove.

Baptists Favor Additional Seminaries

Oklahoma City, May 19 —(AP)—Establishment of two new theological seminaries — one in the East, one in the West — was recommended today to the Southern Baptist convention.

A committee on theological education reported that the new seminaries and a drive to finance them are necessary to meet a crying need for more pastors.

The convention, its attendance swelled near the 8,000 mark in its second day, was considering the recommendation later in the afternoon.

The 92nd annual gathering opened with a blast at "the Catholic Hierarchy" — painted by Dr. Joseph H. Dawson, Washington, D. C., who says "a vast totalitarian power is attempting to control our education, politics and our foreign policy."

"We do not intend to exchange our free American life for totalitarian dictatorship from the Vatican," he said, touching off a burst of Baptist applause.

The Rev. Oscar Gibson, Louisville, Ky., stirred a brief flurry by demanding a probe of reports that modernism exists among the faculty of Southern Baptist theological seminary, Louisville, Ky.

"Modernists," he said, "are those who question the word of God."

The convention referred his complaint to the seminary's board of trustees.

Gibson did not appear at an advertised night session to expose five modernists at Louisville. Instead, Dr. J. Frank Norris, Fort Worth, Tex., preached one hour and ten minutes to about 300 persons, some wearing Baptist conviction badges.

Dr. Robert G. Lee, Memphis, Tenn., president of the convention, delivered the keynote address to nearly 7,000 Baptists who packed municipal auditorium.

To offer communism as a suggestion.

He hired a band and a vocalist to record the song. Then he persuaded half a dozen neighborhood gnomes to put the record in their jukeboxes. He also employed a man named Frank to carry a sandwich board plugging "An Onion and You" along Tin Pan Alley — just to let the regular publishers know what they were missing.

Recently the president of a vegetarian society bought 50 sheet music copies of the song from Frank," said Alex.

Because his advertising budget is low, Alex had to think up an inexpensive way to alert the public.

"I got up at six a. m., he said, "and put a box of chalk in my pocket. I go around and chalk up the sign, 'An Onion and You,' in the crowded business and shopping areas of the city. Sometimes I sell a front on the idea of helping me, but most of my friends can't quite figure me out."

The big trouble with his distribution system is that so far the only place people can buy his song is at his father's grocery store.

Waters Recede in Fort Worth, Dallas Areas

Dallas, May 19 —(AP)—Flood waters receded at Fort Worth and Dallas today but Texans still couldn't breathe that well known sigh of relief. Torrents that have been braking out like small pots were a constant threat.

Fort Worth citizens were moving back into their water ravaged homes and officials evaluated the damage caused by a flash flood that held the city in a paralyzing grip for 24 hours.

The raging Trinity left a toll of nine lives and damage estimated at $6,000,000 at Fort Worth. But it lost its punch when it roared to ward Dallas. The river reached a 48-foot crest then subsided rapidly to a level it had been expected to reach 50 feet.

Meanwhile Oklahoma, which had tornadoes two nights in a row, faced serious floods today.

Prarie creeks and shallow rivers, overtaken by four days of storm, flooded the western flatlands in some places they swelled to more than a mile wide.

The Washita river, 50 miles of Oklahoma City, flooded four feet higher than the record of 1933. It swamped Fort Cobb and Anadarko window deep and brought normal life to a standstill.

Property damage is already estimated at $1,000,000 in Anadarko was struggling to get emergency power. The flood knocked out power and water facilities.

The Carnegie-Fort Cobb area just a few miles upriver from Anadarko got a total of nine inches of rain in six inches in less than three hours. Carnegie, mountain view and gracetown were all partly under water from the Washita River Norman and Purcell, south of Oklahoma City, were warned of flood crests on the south Canadian — biggest river in Central Oklahoma.

Farther east, a more serious threat was aimed down the river toward Whitefield, just below the confluence of the North and South Canadian in a lowland valley.

Residents at Whitefield, 70 miles southeast of Tulsa, were told to evacuate the river areas and remove their cattle.

Yesterday a tornado struck the little Texas panhandle town of Kellerville, damaging homes, oil field equipment and utility lines and toppling up trees. It was the only damage to the south Canadian that flitted around the panhandle during the afternoon.

No one was killed and there were no injuries in the village of 50 population.

Other tornadoes, accompanied by heavy rain, hit a hail, did a hide-and-seek in West Texas but caused no damage.

Rain and hail hit the north plains towns of Panhandle, Borger, Gruver, Claude, Stimpert, Miami, Conway and the rail siding of St. Francisville in West Texas.

Flattened and cattle country crane was in the path of a storm that blew down some shacks, and damaged roofs.

While there was no major damage from the waters in Dallas, proper with its 60-foot levees, the area downstream where there are farmlands and some residences, expected serious flooding for a couple of days. This area has only five feet of water thrown up against the water.

State's Violent Death Toll Reaches 15

By the Associated Press
Arkansas' violent death toll for this week has reached 15.

Four traffic mishaps Wednesday night ran the number of deaths from this cause to nine.

A young couple was killed near Stephens when an automobile over-turned and caught fire.

The victims were Jeanne Ward, 17, Stephens, and Henry O. Hyland, 25, Village. Four other young persons were injured.

A 25-year-old Woodlawn, Ark., veteran, Charles W. Reed, was the victim of a collision of his auto mobile and a truck near Pine Bluff.

William H. Hester, 70, died after he was struck down by a wrecker truck in Little Rock.

Five-year-old Charles Eugene Locicero, Jr., was injured fatally when he ran in front of an auto mobile at Jacksonville.

Suicides, drownings, a homicide and a firearms accident caused the other deaths.

Officers Seek Three Youths Who Escaped Jail

Augusta, May 19 —(AP)— Three youths were sought today after fleeing from jail here yesterday.

Jailer Arthur Parker said he was returning Edward Azell Hobbs, 18, to a cell after taking him to a physician's office when the youth knocked him to the floor.

Hobbs said Parker opened a door of the cell where Marshall Leonard, 19, was held and the two bound him. Then they freed James Bailey, 18, and all three fled.

Hobbs and Bailey are charged with grand larceny; Leonard, with robbery.

Student Held in Connection With Slaying

Little Rock, May 19 —(AP)— Prosecutor Dunaway said today a medical student accused of killing one man "is still under investigation in connection with another murder."

On the basis of this statement, Circuit Judge Gus Fulk refused to free Harold Raymond Houchins, Jr., on bond.

Houchins, 23, a junior at the University of Arkansas medical school, is charged with first degree murder in the death of Seth Reed, Clarksville insurance man, in a hotel room here last November.

Dunaway said May 5 Houchins had admitted striking Reed with his fists after they had unnatural sexual relations.

The prosecutor did not specifically identify the case to which he referred when he said Houchins was being investigated in another murder. But statements made at today's bond hearing indicated he referred to the knife slaying of Dick Neal, 30-year-old Little Rock business man, on a lonely road near here April 20.

Argument by Houchins' attorney, Jack Holt, at the hearing indicated the defendant's plea of self defense case would be self defense.

Holt said Reed invited the young man to his room.

"When they got up there," the attorney continued, "Mr. Reed propositioned him to submit to a medical test. On the way to the test, Mr. Reed hit Mr. Reed. Mr. Reed hit him. He hit Mr. Reed. He did not know he had hurt Mr. Reed until he read about it in the newspapers the next day."

"If that evidence will show that he went down to Mr. Dunaway's office to help him in the Neal case."

Houchins sat quietly through the hearing, periodically patting the hand of his mother, who was beside him. Mrs. Houchins suffered a fainting attack as she left the courtroom.

Houchins was taken to Austin, Tex., early this month for a lie detector test. On the way he took an overdose of sleeping pills in an apparent suicide attempt. Dunaway said that when the young man regained consciousness, he admitted hitting Reed.

Steed May Serve as Head of Municipal League

Little Rock, May 19 —(AP)—Mayor George Steed of Pine Bluff will serve out an unexpired term as president of the Arkansas Municipal League. He succeeds former Hot Springs Mayor Earl Ricks, now state adjutant general.

A couple of years ago congress passed a law which said lobbyists had to register with congress.

This was an attempt to smoke them out in the open so they could be recognized as lobbyists.

And about 1,500 are registered in the capital as paid lobbyists. But this doesn't satisfy Rep. Sabath, Illinois Democrat, who's taken as many cracks at lobbyists as anybody.

He says about another 1,500 lobbyists are running around loose, unregistered and unsmoked out.

But who's a lobbyist? He's any person (or group) who tries to persuade a congressman to vote his way.

There are lots of ways of lobbying. Visiting a congressman in his office, buttonholing him in the hall, having him out to a party, or testifying before a congressional committee.

Sabath says he's not against the regular representatives of organizations who need lobbyists here to get their views across.

But he is against: 1. The undercover lads who lobby without letting it be publicly known — by registering — that they're lobbyists.

2. The ones who got a chunk of dough from some one by pretending they have an "in" and can get the money in congress.

A lobbyist could be someone paid by manufacturers, or labor unions, or landlords, or farmers, to represent them here and plug their case.

Or, as some congressmen have charged, it might be someone from a government agency who tries to work his charms on congress to get something the agency wants.

Or, it might be an ex-congressman who has a client and has come back to work on his old companions in congress.

Can an ex-congressman do that? Sure. Anyone who's ever served in congress can walk out on the floor any time he pleases, not matter how long it's been since he was a congressman himself.

So an ex-congressman turned lobbyist has a head start on any run-of-the-mine lobbyist who can get no nearer the floor than the hall outside.

Says Sabath: "One man who was a congressman 30 years ago is still coming back here. A lot of ex-members are lobbying."

As Sabath says millions of dollars are spent on lobbying every year through salaries for the lobbyists, money for their expenses, publicity for them. Entertaining they do, and radio time the powerful lobbyists can hire.

And these lobbyists — although they seldom would want to claim credit publicly — undoubtedly have a hand in persuading congressmen to their way of thinking in the laws that are passed.

Russians Modify Curb on Berlin Truck Traffic

Berlin, May 19 (AP)— Maj. Gen. George P. Hays, deputy U. S. military governor, announced today the Russians are modifying their new restrictions on truck traffic from West Germany to Berlin.

He said the Soviet military administration informed him, "freight-laden trucks from West Germany now halted by the Russians at Helmstedt on the interzonal frontier will be allowed to proceed to Berlin without written permits from the Soviet zone economic commission."

But he added, the Russians will demand that any other trucks crossing the frontier bear such permits.

Gen. Hays said the Western Allies would try to get the Russians to drop that demand in further negotiations. He called it a "new restriction and therefore a violation of the four-power agreement in New York for lifting all blockades."

If we can't settle this difference, then I will send a protest to the Russian military governor, Gen. Vassily Gurov," Hays said. But I don't think a pessimistic view I think the Russians issued the restriction to improve their bargaining position in the talks we have been having with them about an interim agreement between Eastern and Western Germany."

Hays expressed the opinion that the Russians did not act in bad faith.

There is every indication they wish to reach a trade agreement," he continued. The situation is not steamrollered. There are always bound to be difficulties, but they can be settled.

His statement marked at least a measure of progress in efforts to reach some real understanding of the confusing developments. The restrictions had followed such an erratic pattern that nobody really was able to appraise just what maneuver the Russians were up to, now.

Lobbyists Are as Regular as Christmas

Washington, May 9 —(AP)— Just as regular as Christmas, there comes a time at least once a year to write about lobbyists.

That's when somebody takes a crack at them or wants to suppress them or something. This is one of the times.

Yesterday the house passed a resolution to have a congressional investigation of lobbyists.

Nothing will be done, though, unless the senate also votes for the investigation.

A couple of years ago congress passed a law which said lobbyists had to register with congress.

This was an attempt to smoke them out in the open so they could be recognized as lobbyists.

And about 1,500 are registered in the capital as paid lobbyists. But this doesn't satisfy Rep. Sabath, Illinois Democrat, who's taken as many cracks at lobbyists as anybody.

Under Cover of 'Peace', Both Sides Are Preparing for the Biggest Cold War Yet Seen

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Under cover of the "peace" brought about by the lifting of the Berlin blockades, the Western Allies and Russia are preparing intensively for resumption of the big battle of the cold war — the struggle for control of Germany.

The conflict will be joined again next Monday in Paris with resumption of the Big Four foreign ministers' council. Neither side is talking much. Both are burning midnight oil. And German leaders are anxious to see the Reich restored to its former prestige as a great power, are weighing the odds in the political gamble they must make in deciding their cooperation.

The Western democracies are standing pat on carrying out their program for creating a federal republic comprising their three zones of occupation. It is their hope that Eastern Germany, now under Soviet control, will join this federal government.

Their aim is to create a strong but peaceful nation in the heart of central Europe as a barrier against war.

Russia on the other hand is against a federal government. She wants a unified country under a centralized government. She also calls for the withdrawal of Allied troops of occupation.

Observers note that such a set up would be ideal for Russian purposes. She already has sovietized Eastern Germany and, with a centralized German government, she would be in excellent position to extend communism throughout the Reich by fifth column tactics.

A Communist Germany in the heart of Europe, adjoining the Russian bloc on the East, would increase Moscow's strength immensely. That would be all intent against the Soviet right up against Germany's Eastern border. On the other side would lie the nations belonging to the Atlantic pact.

Taken at face value the Russian attitude, regarding a unified Germany and a withdrawal of forces of occupation, undoubtedly has attraction for some Germans. However, the German leaders as a whole are said to recognize fully the threat of communism — which they definitely don't want.

Moreover, they are not overlooking that, on the insistence of Moscow, Poland was permitted to annex 38,886 square miles comprising the former German provinces of Silesia, Pomerania and West Prussia. This rich area was given War reparations in exchange for the 69,880 square miles of eastern Poland which was ceded to Russia.

In any event the Germans can't play "neutral" successfully between the East and the West. They must pick and stick.

The indications in Washington are that U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and his assistants will want actions rather than words as proof that Russia has undergone any change of heart along with the lifting of the blockade. As a matter of fact William P. Maddox, director of the foreign service institute in the state department, says the truth hasn't lifted Moscow's aggressive "threat."

Maddox declares the threat will be lifted only when the Soviet has repudiated aggression of all kinds in her policies and actions and is ready for genuine cooperation with all the United Nations.

U. S. to Step Into Ford Strike

Washington, May 16 — (AP) — The federal government stepped into the Ford strike today in an effort to get a settlement.

Walter Reuther, president of the CIO auto workers, visited Federal Mediation Director Cyrus S. Ching and talked with him about the strike.

Coming out of Ching's office, Reuther told a reporter, in reply to a question, that Ching's agency conciliation service plans to "have a man there today" — meaning at the strike negotiations in Detroit. The union had asked the mediation service to intervene in the strike.

The Ford Motor company, with 100,000 men idle, has declared in Detroit earlier that it would give "all possible assistance" to any federal peace effort.

President Henry Ford II asked, however, that Ching "weigh carefully" certain factors other than the strike itself before stepping into the dispute. One of these is the company's contention that factionalism and politics in the union led to the strike.

Union officials deny that. They say the walkout May 5 was due to a "speedup" in work schedules. Reuther said he came here for a series of CIO meetings.

But before going to CIO headquarters, he said, he dropped in on Ching and "told him he ought to enter this case and learn the facts because Ford's public position is different from their real position."

Even before that Ching told Reuther, and the Ford Motor Co. in telegrams Friday that if they did not make significant progress toward a settlement within a "reasonable period," he would be obliged to enter the case in the public interest.

Reuther came here to attend a meeting of CIO vice presidents today and the CIO executive board sessions tomorrow and Wednesday.

A conciliation service official said Reuther "just dropped in" to see Ching.

Officer Plan to Transfer Admitted Slayer

Little Rock, May 19 —(AP)— Authorities planned today to transfer Kenneth D. Speegle, 23, accused of two Ozark mountain slayings, from state hospital here to jail at Harrison.

Speegle is charged with first degree murder in the fatal shootings of Zue E. Crook, retired railroad man, and State Patrolman A. S. Pavatt last September.

He will be tried in Marion county circuit court at Vellville.

Last week Speegle, an AWOL soldier, was quoted by state police investigator H. R. Peterson as admitting the killings he had said he didn't remember anything of the time when the slayings occurred.

State hospital physicians have declared Speegle sane. Previously they had said he was sane but apparently suffering from amnesia. He was held at the hospital for observation.

ISLAND OF ESCAPE

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

Copyright by Hugh Lawrence Nelson. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

The Story: The violent death of Lilly Warren has upset the routine of Henry Gough Harding's island of escape. Spare Island, Lilly was found shot in a car of a furnished room on the beach. None but Bea Cosgrove knows that Lilly was killed by the automatic which Bea hid when the sugar sacks in the kitchen the day she arrived. As in Harding is held at all times—everybody knows that.

Harding, Miss Cosgrove, Agnes Firth, Mabel Jones, Fred Silwell, George Bascombe, Mollie Stark, and Nona McGuire, all have alibis. But, Harding asks, where did the gun come from? Bascombe's yacht, which was shipwrecked on the island, were 38 or larger caliber, while this gun was a Mauser .763, about a .32.

Fred Silwell snapped his fingers. "Wait a minute. I just remembered. I picked up a little automatic in a back shop the day before we sailed. It had 'Waffenfabrik Mauser A. G. Oberndorf A. N.' Mauser's Patent stamped on one side. And the serial number just in front of that. Three hundred thousand and something. Six figures anyhow. I packed it away in oil rags in a watertight tin box and forgot it. I don't think any of the others knew I had it. Does that help you any?"

Miss Cosgrove could have supplied the rest of the serial number from memory.

There was doubt in Bea's mind that the gun was the one she had smuggled onto Spare Island and had hidden among the sugar sacks the night of her arrival. She also recalled the gun swinging door that had aroused her suspicions after she had hidden the gun.

Harding took the gun from his pocket and looked at it closely. "The first number is correct. I think it is clear this is your weapon. I am glad to have that detail explained."

Bea's pencil point broke. She resharpened it quickly, looked up to meet George's glance. He returned quickly toward Silwell, his lips twisted down at the corners.

"Here is only one other thing," Harding said. "Mollie, I have left that for the last because of a personal element. Also I wanted to keep everything fair and impartial until the method by which she obtained the weapon was ascertained."

"Last night, I was forced to speak plainly to Mrs. Warren. Perhaps I spoke too sternly. It seemed the kindest thing at the time, a surgeon's stroke. I was forced to tell her bluntly I would not consider her any longer."

George Bascombe opened his mouth, shut it to swallow audibly, then said "Was she upset by the news?"

Henry Harding stared, found George's face completely expressionless. "She was," he admitted. "Extremely upset. Naturally I thought at the time she would recover, but the amount she drank subsequently did not help her mental processes."

Fred Silwell sighed. "That does it."

Harding rapped on the table sharply. "Ladies and gentlemen of Spare Island, you have heard the facts of the case. It has been pro-

DOROTHY DIX

Slave to Her Children

Dear Miss Dix: Do you think that children should be spared the burden of housework? I am the mother of a large family and I hate to ask my daughters to help me as I want them to spend their time in play and pleasure, not in working. The hardships of life could soon enough and I do not want them to have the hard life that I have had.

My husband says I am wrong about this. What is your idea? AN OVERWORKED MOTHER

Answer: Well, I agree with your husband. I think you wrong, and that it would be better for you and far better for the girls themselves if you would let them help you with the household chores. For if you slave and let your daughters go idle, if you do without everything to give to them, you will not only teach them habits of efficiency, but it would breed in them a sense of family loyalty. It would make them feel that they had a duty to the family and must do their part toward making it a success. Think of the children should be brought up to feel that they must help beautify the home and to keep it clean and orderly.

So, poor overworked mother, let your daughters help you with the family chores. It will not curtail the pleasures of your youth, for the work is divided among the children the burden will be light for all and there will be plenty of time for play.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have been married for one year and in that time my wife has gone home to her mother four times. We have been in a perpetual row ever since at its base. I don't and every time I don't give in to her she cries and rushes home to Mamma and I am so fed up with the situation that I don't think I shall attempt to get her back. I don't think she loves me very much. Anyway, she doesn't act like she does.

What shall I do?

Answer: Well, Tom, my advice to you is to go to see your wife and find out if she is willing to come back and make a real honest-to-goodness try at making a marriage a success. If she isn't and if she intends to pack up her belongings and go back to Mother every time she gets peeved, she had better stay there.

If she does return to you, make up your mind that there will be no more fussing and arguing between you. You can stop fighting if you want to. You get along with other people and you can live peacefully with your wife if you are determined to do so.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a boy of 20, married to a girl of 19. I would be very happy except that my wife is the worst housekeeper

Soil Is Very Important in Transplanting

When transplanting vegetables get the plants up with all the soil possible. Home Demonstration agent Lorraine Blackwood advised yesterday. Never pull a plant out of the soil. This will break the small roots.

Leave a shallow depression around the plant to facilitate watering, she suggested. To stimulate growth, use a level teaspoonful of nitrate of soda in one gallon of water.

"Pour this solution around the plant and cover with dry soil," she explained. "Or better still"

March of Science Shows Most Tuberculosis Patients Leave the Hospital Too Soon

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

AP Science Reporter

New York, May 14 (AP) — More than one-third of tuberculosis patients leave hospitals too soon, while they're still sick and can infect other people, a new study shows.

They leave before doctors want them to, despite medical advice to stay longer. If they stayed, their own chances of recovery would be better, and there would be fewer new cases of TB, the report declares.

The patients leave usually because of personal reasons, or dissatisfaction with their progress, it adds. It recommends 12 steps that hospitals could take to remedy this.

The study was made by Godias J. Dietel, statistician, and Donald E. Porter, field assistant of the New York tuberculosis and health association. It covered four hospitals in New York City, Otisville, N. Y., and Patterson, N. J.

Thirty-seven per cent of 1,828 patients left against medical advice, they found. About as many were discharged with medical consent, but this included 200 transferred to other institutions.

Many of those who left were really sick, and most dangerous to the community. Men and women were equally inclined to leave too soon.

Two-thirds of those who left without doctors' approval said they were dissatisfied with the institution or conditions there. They complained of the food, of routine, and of the care they received. Many in the hospital had made many of them restless.

About 15 per cent left because of concern over their homes or families. They worried about husbands, wives, or children, or expenses.

The third main reason for leaving too soon was based on emotional upsets, or maladjustments. This group included some alcoholics and drug addicts.

Better care of patients physically, socially, and emotionally would help in keeping them from leaving too early, the report said.

Among specific steps it urges full-time medical directors and service to aid in treating emotional maladjustments; bigger nursing staffs so nurses can pay more individual attention to patients; social services to help solve social and economic problems; more recreation and rehabilitation; more health education to point up the need and possibly to prevent really sick persons from leaving when they can.

Also more staff conferences; more stress on telling the patient of his progress; helping patients adjust to hospital life; segregating patients according to degree of sickness; a delayed sign-out rule to give a week's "cooling-off" period before patients decide to leave.

Elsewhere in Science

Albany, N. Y. (AP) — Milk may be more important for an older person than for a baby, said Dr. Clyde M. McCay, professor of nutrition at Cornell University.

Recent studies indicate that the amount of fat and calcium obtained from food during the last third of life is especially important, he told an American Chemical Society meeting. To maintain calcium in bones, a person must take in enough calcium in food, and milk is one of the best sources.

There isn't any evidence that a diet containing plenty of calcium will speed up hardening of the arteries, he added. White rats fed only on mineralized milk all their lives lived as long as those getting a high quality mixed diet.

St. Louis, Mo. (AP) — One reason why a kiss is sweet:

Powdered saccharin, the potent sweetener, is mixed in with lipstick when a woman kisses, says Ray Caulk of the Monsanto Chemical Co. The ratio is about one ounce of saccharin to every 6,000 tubes of lipstick.

Detroit (AP) — The race track lore that spraying the legs of horses with ethyl chloride just before a race temporarily increases their speed and endurance is borne out by a new study.

Ethyl chloride may relieve muscle spasm in lumbago, stiff neck, sprains, and other conditions. It is an anesthetic that chills the skin.

Dr. Jane T. Draper of Cornell University medical hospital and Dr. S. H. Rinzler of Beth Israel hospital, New York, tested it on normal muscles. They found that the endurance of a person's arms in doing a hand-punching exercise was nearly doubled when the arms were sprayed with the chemical. It is not yet clear how the chemical acts to bring about this greater endurance, they told the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

Auburn, Ala. (AP) — Lack of vitamin E can bring on fatal lung hemorrhage and liver damage in rats, a study at the Alabama polytechnic institute agricultural experiment station shows. Young rats died suddenly after an average of 53 days on a diet without the vitamin, high in fat and low in casein.

E. L. Hove, Dr. Copeland and W. D. Salmon found. Litter mates getting the same diet but supplemented with vitamin E did not develop the lung bleeding and liver damage, the nutritionists said.

Brunette's 'Display' Ends in Arrest

By LEO TURNER

New York, May 18 — (UP) — A curvaceous New Orleans brunette wound up in jail today for stopping the traffic on Second avenue.

She took off all her clothes in the middle of the street.

The milkmen cheered. The drunks put another nickel in the fire alarm boxes and the early birds burst into song. But the cops took a dim view of the goings-on at 4:45 a. m. at the corner of 52nd street and Second avenue.

They identified the young woman at Ruth Schubert, 32, of New Orleans.

She's five feet four. She weighs 140 pounds. She has brown hair. And those who looked closely said she had brown eyes and a scar over her right eyebrow.

The visitor from Dixie, it seems, had a sudden yen to take a walk from the Pickwick Arms hotel at 30 E. 51st st., where she registered on March 15 from New Orleans.

She walked a block and a half and took off her white jacket.

Then she took off her white stacks.

Passerby stopped to look.

She smiled.

She took off her white blouse and black shoes.

A passing police radio car slowed down to investigate the center of interest.

"Hey," said Patrolman Peter Ciosek, "that dame hasn't got on anything but her pink panties."

She took those off.

Ciosek threw his coat hastily over her shoulders and took her to the station house from where a city ambulance whisked her to Bellevue hospital.

Police found the key to room 202 at the Pickwick in the pocket of the white jacket.

Hotel employees refused to discuss the incident except to reveal that Miss Schubert placed a long distance telephone call to Chestnut 8-088 in New Orleans last night.

"We don't know what happened to her," the manager said.

Police said they didn't either.

McGrath Backs Dixie Endorsement

Washington, May 18 — (UP) — Chairman J. Howard McGrath of the Democratic national committee today reaffirmed his endorsement of an alleged "Dixiecrat" for a major Mississippi political post.

He noted that the Southerner in question — J. P. Coleman — had received the recommendation of Sen. John C. Stennis, (D-Miss.), for appointment as U. S. attorney in the northern district of Mississippi.

It was Stennis' prerogative to recommend Coleman, McGrath said, and it would be "breaking precedent" to take it away from him.

Coleman, however, is opposed by pro-Truman Mississippi Democrats, who say he is a "Dixiecrat." They are supporting the incumbent U. S. Attorney, Chester L. Summers, for reappointment.

Among Summers' supporters is Clarence E. Hood, Democratic national committeeman from Mississippi.

Hood, Curtis Rogers, pro-Truman Mississippi state chairman, Philip E. Mullen, pro-Truman state vice chairman, and Curtis Bensley, acting state secretary of the pro-Trumanites, met with McGrath yesterday.

The pro-Truman bloc contends that it should have the right to name the U. S. attorney since Stennis admittedly supported the anti-Truman Thurmond-Wright States' Rights ticket in the 1948 elections.

Mr. Truman himself has said he would withhold patronage from any congressman who refused to support the party platform.

After talking to McGrath, Hood said the pro-Truman group had been asked to come to the White House today.

He and Mullen spent three hours at the White House Friday, but never disclosed whether they talked to Mr. Truman. Most of the time apparently was spent with Donald Dawson, presidential administrative assistant in charge of personnel.

After seeing the Mississippians, McGrath told reporters: "They didn't endorse Coleman and they didn't oppose him."

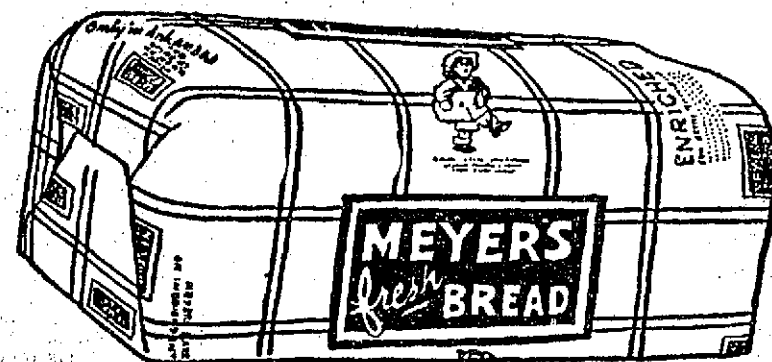

But Hood said, "I don't think Coleman ever will be U. S. attorney for upper Mississippi."

"I'm still opposed to Mr. Coleman and for Chester L. Summers," he said.

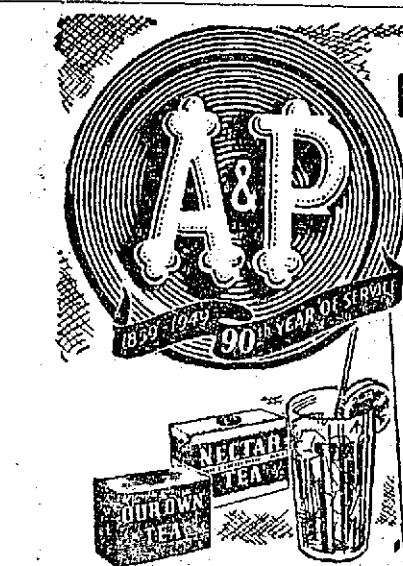

"I am against Coleman yesterday, today, tomorrow, and forevermore on this appointment," Rogers said.

Mullen said it was not a question of being against Coleman but of being for Summers.

Reds Certain to Change Strategy

Berlin, May 18 —(AP)— Eastern Germany's 4,000,000 votes against communism may have thrown gravel into the gears of Soviet strategy at the Four Power talks in Paris opening Monday.

The Communists claimed a "tremendous victory" in the East German election, but the fact that one-third of the voters sent against them clearly was as staggering a blow to them as it was a surprise to everybody else.

As a result of the Soviet Union may pause, now, and reappraise its plans of action in the Paris conference. For instance, she must weigh new factors in deciding what position to take on any proposal for withdrawal of all armies of occupation from Germany.

Before the election, the Russians had been reported as favoring withdrawal by both East and West occupation forces, presumably with the idea that East German Communists were strong enough to seize control of any central German government embracing all zones, either at once or later.

But in the voting Sunday and Monday in the Russian zone, 12,024,221 voters cast valid ballots. They had the choice of voting for a hand-picked slate of candidates for Eastern Germany, or voting "yes" (Soviet-style parliament) for Eastern Germany, or voting against the ticket. Yet 4,000,272 persons voted "no," evidence that they didn't want Communist rule. There arises, then, this obvious question: in an arch swarming with Soviet troops and Communist spies, how many voted for the Communist slate, although actually wishing they had the courage to vote against it?

The one-third "no" vote enormously strengthens the hands of the United States, Britain and France in the Paris meetings. They now will face the Russians strategists knowing that West Germany's 40,000,000 inhabitants are solidly opposing communism, and at least a third of those under Russian rule don't like it any

Seventh Flood Victim in Fort Worth

Fort Worth, Tex., May 18 —(AP)— Flood waters that inundated great sections of Fort Worth receded today, leaving behind the body of a seventh victim and a crippled shelter with water supply.

The swirling flood that covered residential, business and industrial areas in the Trinity Valley areas here injured 30 persons and left an estimated 13,000 homeless. The homeless spent last night in public shelters or with relatives and friends.

At dawn, weary searchers, working the flooded area in boats and afoot, found the body of a man identified by police as John B. Fawks near the animal cages in Forest Park.

The newest drowning increased the toll for three days of turbulent weather in Texas and Oklahoma to 14 dead and more than 138 injured. The count was seven drowned and 30 treated at hospitals here, mostly for shock and exposure, five dead and 85 injured from a tornado at Amarillo Sunday night; one dead and nine injured from twisters in Oklahoma, and one dead and at least 12 injured in West Texas tornadoes.

A violent electrical storm, moving north from Texas, struck central Oklahoma last night with cloudbursts and four small tornadoes. There were no deaths from the twisters but two were hospitalized and more than three dozen treated for lesser injuries when one tornado lashed a high school crowd at Meeker, 36 miles east of Oklahoma City. Other twisters did scattered damage in the Anadarko-Binger area, about 60 miles southwest of Oklahoma City in Caddo county. Five inches of rain brought a flood to Norman, Oklahoma.

In a Kentucky town the local Boy Scout troop had no meeting place. So the Kroger manager set aside a part of his basement, repainted it, added a special door and gave the Scoutmaster the key. Now the Scouts have their own quarters. Kroger believes in being a good citizen and encouraging the development of good citizenship.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler Copyright, 1947 By King Features Syndicate.

No writer in American journalism was more vehement than I against Adolf Hitler's persecution of the Jews in Germany during the cold pogrom which preceded the Nazi alliance with Soviet Russia and the shooting war. Thereafter, darkness and chaos blotted out the scene and other peoples suffered equally with the Jews.

During the mid-thirties I carefully discussed the Nazi program, particularly wherein the Nazis themselves admitted practiced and praised Germanism and the very iniquities which they charged against all Jews. For example, the Nazis developed a system of dual citizenship and encouraged Germans in our country to become naturalized but with a mental reservation. They were not subtle about this but defiantly brazen. They claimed that all Jews were incapable of loyalty to any nation — sometimes they even held that Jewishness and communism were identical — and yet they openly exhorted former Germans here to violate their new allegiance. They pursued these Germans overseas with silent persecutions through their hands to force them to serve the Reich.

They tried to force them to betray the United States by persecuting their relatives who were still in the United States. No financial trick was alleged against Jews by Hitler's propagandists that the Nazis themselves did not practice. And the identity of Hitlerism with Soviet communism, which the Nazis constantly attributed to a chimera which they called "world Jewry," was carefully traced and expounded in my daily letters. Even while they abhorred Bolshevism as a curse on mankind wrought by the Jews, the Nazis under Hitler practiced every phase of Bolshevism themselves.

Covering the winter Olympic games in Garmisch-Partenkirchen in 1936. I was the only American reporter — and, as far as I know, the only reporter from any country — who referred back to the Nazis' solemn promise not to make a political or military spectacle of this idealized athletic and emotional kermess, and, from their midst, I wrote that Hitler, Goebbels and other political tyrants of the regime were lordling it over the scene. ## Locke, Palmer Head Field in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, May 19 (UP) — Par pushers began 72-hole medal play today in the sixth annual Philadelphia Inquirer charity invitation tournament, the last golfing stunner before the PGA national championships at Richmond, Va., next week.

Bobby Locke, 1949 Goodall round robin winner, barred from the PGA scramble, and Johnny Palmer, both tournament titlists, headed the record field readied for the four day tussle over the 6,607 yard Whitmarsh country club course.

Palmer is defending champion, and Locke the 1947 winner. Barring last minute withdrawals, a field of 130 was set for the last weekend of golf-edge tournament play before the 15,000 prize money First prize was worth $2,500.

Both Palmer, who one-uttled his last five holes to win the 1949 top money, and Locke, who found more gold in American golf than diamonds in his native South Africa, faced the jinx of repeating their laurels. No one has won the Inquirer tournament twice.

Challenging their repeat efforts was a host of first magnitude stars, including Cary Middlecoff, Lloyd Mangrum, Jimmy Demaret, Dutch Harrison, Bob Hamilton, Jim Turnesa and Fred Haas Jr. from the two 10 money winners this year.

A reporter to telephone news Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and he was very cordial and praised my work. I am reviewing these facts which do not do full justice to the record, because there is now in circulation a propaganda charging me with anti-semitism on the ground that I have criticized, factually and on matters of principle, a few professional union bosses who happen to be Jews. I have examined the works, misdeeds and abuses of many other unionists who are not Jews, with never a suggestion that I am anti-Catholic, anti-Protestant or anti-Christian.

David Dubinsky and the International Ladies Garment Workers Union were the subject of a discussion which has brought the open charge of anti-semitism in the New York Post. This is a vicious lie for an ulterior purpose. This paper is owned by a woman whose current husband left the editorial chair a few weeks ago following a political disagreement with her. During the late presidential campaign the husband in this paper, supported Henry Wallace notwithstanding the fact that the Kremlin and all those American Communists who fall within President Truman's definition of traitors were backing Wallace. Indeed, Communists comprised all but a negligible portion of Wallace's total vote.

This paper is a competitor. In a small way, for circulation and advertising in the New York field and would serve its own interests by smearing with a false and vicious charge of anti-semitism a writer for another paper in complete disregard of the record on the contrary.

It is a standard Communist technique. Confident in my own record which is in the newspaper files and in the fact that no person can cite one single phrase of anti-semitism in millions of words that I have written, I decided to confront the terror in this way.

I will not permit the smear to goad me into any expression which would violate my own faith and principles.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.

New York, May 19 (AP) — Eddie Walker speaking: "I'd like to spend about three months a year in Paris — and three days in London." Walker had middleweight Steve Bellosie in Paris recently for a fight with Jean Stock and he was re-telling the details for the benefit of Charley Johnston, who'll be taking Sandy Saddler over soon. "You can get anything you want to eat in Paris — the food and the weather are wonderful," Eddie explained. "But in London you have to belong to a private club to get a good meal. . . . But they're both great towns for fights and entertainment. The people can't spend their money on anything else. . . . You know, they're talking about Saddler as another Al Brown in Paris. I tried to tell him he ain't like that. . . . No; Sandy isn't as tall as Brown, Johnston interjected. "That's not it, Brown used to hang out in Montmartre; every joint in the place has his picture," Walker explained.

The Hardest Blow "That about the fight, Eddie?" a working newspaperman interrupted. "When we got over there, they kept telling us what a tough guy Stock was — not how good, just how tough," Walker explained. "He's a real wade-in guy; but the night Steve knocked him down a couple of times, when he got up, he turned his back and Steve didn't hit him again. He just stuck his left out and waited and everybody yelled 'stop it.' We were supposed to have another fight but they wanted to give him a rest. (he meant Laurent Dauthuille) and we wouldn't take him. Everybody over there likes him. . . . Then on the boat coming back I closed with the tournament of champions for Cerdan, probably it was the only time anybody closed for a fight at sea — and when I got home I find that Mike Jacobs has retired and the T. of C. is selling out, so I'm just waiting."

Chalk Talk "Dauthuille is a southpaw isn't he? Does your boy fight lefties?" asked a writer. "You're thinking of Chalky Wright, aren't you? Or was it Mike Wolgast?" Eddie chuckled. "I had Wolgast fighting a guy in Detroit once and I hear he's a southpaw. . . . So I tell Scotty Monteith, the first time this guy switches, Wolgast will walk out of the ring. . . . Where I made my mistake was saying it where Wolgast could hear me. . . . Wolgast starts fighting right handed all right, but about the third round, he switches. And when he does it, a couple of times more, Wolgast walks right out of the ring. . . . I had Chalky fighting a southpaw, Wilkes Barre once. I meant to tell him about it, but I kept forgetting until just as we were starting down the aisle to the ring. . . . Then I said, 'You know this fellow is a southpaw. Do you know how to fight him?' Mr. Walker, isn't this a hell of a time to be asking me that?"

reporter to telephone news Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and he was very cordial and praised my work. I am reviewing these facts which do not do full justice to the record, because there is now in circulation a propaganda charging me with anti-semitism on the ground that I have criticized, factually and on matters of principle, a few professional union bosses who happen to be Jews. I have examined the works, misdeeds and abuses of many other unionists who are not Jews, with never a suggestion that I am anti-Catholic, anti-Protestant or anti-Christian.

David Dubinsky and the International Ladies Garment Workers Union were the subject of a discussion which has brought the open charge of anti-semitism in the New York Post. This is a vicious lie for an ulterior purpose. This paper is owned by a woman whose current husband left the editorial chair a few weeks ago following a political disagreement with her. Indeed, Communists comprised all but a negligible portion of Wallace's total vote.

Baseball Team Looks Good in Practice Game

Clyde Zinn's Legion-Merchants boys squared off against each other in a practice session last night at Fair park and the result looked encouraging to more than 100 local fans.

For innings both teams looked good, committing few errors. The practice was highlighted by two newcomers to the club, the McClendon brothers, Jack and Bill.

Bill did the catching for the "B" boys on the mound. Each collected one for two at the plate. Both are expected to play with the local team this summer.

Bill will join the club for its opening game Monday night and Jack will appear later.

Deadlock in Southern Standings

By the Associated Press

A virtual deadlock for first place in the Southern Association was maintained as both Atlanta and Birmingham won Wednesday night. While no games apart in the standings, Atlanta is in front on a percentage basis as the result of having played two fewer games than the Barons.

Hurler Norman Brown performed double duty as the Crackers took the Memphis Chickies, 12 to 5. Birmingham whipped the Little Rock Travelers 12 to 3.

Although he gave up 10 hits, Brown was charged with only one earned run. Memphis got the other four in the fourth on an error by Chet Hajduk.

Even more impressive than his work in the box was Brown's activity with the stick. He banged out a couple of singles and a double in four times at the plate, scored two runs himself and brought in three runners. The Barons got off to an early start with three runs off Art McConnell in the first. Dutch Bamberger, Birmingham outfielder, got a homer with one aboard in the second to make it 5 to 0. Baron First Sacker Ralph Atkins clouted another in the sixth with two passers. Johnny Grace of Little Rock joined the homer parade in the sixth—but it didn't help. The Mobile Bears staged a two-run rally in the fifth for a 5 to 4 victory over the Nashville Vols. The Chattanooga Lookouts put up a perfect defense to aid rookie Hurler Eric Felton in an 7 to 1 victory over the New Orleans Pelicans. Thursday night's games: Memphis at Atlanta, Little Rock at Birmingham, Nashville at Mobile, Chattanooga at New Orleans.

Coroner: "And what were your husband's last words?" Widow: "He said, 'I don't see how this can make a profit out of this stuff at a dollar and a quarter a pint.'"

Senior Play to be Presented Thursday Night
The annual senior play of the Prescott High School will be presented Thursday, May 19, at 8 p.m. at the high school auditorium.

"The Big Potato" is the story of a small town man who wants to put his town back on the map as the center of the potato industry. Aaron Butterfield, played by Sid Davis, is the man who is always thinking up these ideas. He is just like his father Gramps, who sits around thinking all the time. Doug Berley is the grandfather, Aaron's daughter, Janie, wants to go to Hillman to be with her boyfriend, Tommy Carlton.

Emma Butterfield, the mother, doesn't know where they are going to get the money to send Janie to school. These people are played by Mary Thomas, Bob Haynie, and Marion Hart respectively. Emma decided to sell her land to her sister Sophie, Vivioean Hooks, who is always trying to out do Mrs. Terwilliger, Bobbie Box, in the social life of the town.

When the potato idea is thought up by Banker Lushbags, played by Bob Elgin, along with Sophie and Mrs. Terwilliger, trying to think of some way to bribe Aaron into giving them the prize money. He fixes them by making them the judges of the contest. Judges of any contest can not enter into it.

The main worry of the family is how are they going to raise the five thousand dollars for the prize money for "the great Butterfield potato contest." The money is offered by the Butterfields to the person who submits the best bushel of potatoes in this contest. When Belle, Peggy McLelland, a reporter from England, arrived and informed them that a shipload of English potatoes have been entered in the contest and that she will ruin them if her country doesn't win the prize. When she is caught in Aaron's arms Emma gets felled.

Everybody thinks the problem is solved when Mike Edwards, Mac Gann, offers the Butterfields seventy-five thousand dollars for the potatoes. Things are worse when they find out that he is a racketeer. Everyone will enjoy the play and will want to know how the problem is solved and the great idea that Gramps thinks up.

The doors will open at 7:15 and the admission is 25c and 50c

Say Newsmen Drew Money on Public Jobs

Albany, N. Y., May 17 — (AP) — Two state capitol paper reporters declined comment today on a Chicago Daily News story that they have been drawing pay for part-time public jobs.

The reporters are Raymond I. Borst, and John C. Cray, Albany correspondents for the Buffalo, N. Y., Evening News and the New York Sun, respectively.

The Chicago Daily News, in a story Saturday, listed Borst, Cray and Leo W. O'Brien of the Albany Times-Union and International News Service as on the public payroll. Borst and Cray were out of the city when first sought for comment on the story.

The Daily News and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch previously had reported that approximately 50 newspapermen were on the Illinois state payroll from 1943 to 1949 and had received state paychecks totaling nearly $400,000.

Regarding the New York newspapermen, the Daily News said: "Borst is a member of the Hudson River regulating district board. Since his appointment in 1944 by Governor Dewey he has served two years as president, the remainder of the time as a board member."

"As president he drew $3,750 a year. His board member pay for the first two years was $10 a meeting. This later was raised to $25 a meeting."

"Borst has submitted his resignation. Dewey left for Europe May 6 without acting upon it."

The Daily News said that "at the Buffalo Evening News it was explained that sometime ago Borst was asked to choose between his newspaper job and his state position. He agreed then to submit his resignation from the Hudson River regulating district board."

A spokesman for the Buffalo Evening News commented Saturday that the newspaper had been critical of Governor Dewey's administration and pointed to its recent objections to Dewey's 1949-50 budget.

Regarding O'Brien and Cray, the Daily News story said: "O'Brien is secretary and Cray treasurer of the Albany port district commission. O'Brien has been on the commission since 1935 and Cray since 1945. Their pay is $25 a meeting from funds of the commission."

Commenting on the Daily News story, O'Brien said he had been a member of the Albany port district commission for 14 years and that he had been appointed five times.

"Each time the appointment was announced publicly, published in the newspapers and carried on the wire services," he said. "My appointment was not political in any sense, and the members of the port commission are paid only for meetings they actually attend. We are not on a state payroll."

McMath Denies Part in Labor Vote

Little Rock, May 18 — (AP) — Governor McMath today denied flatly calling any Arkansas congressmen about their vote on the Wood Labor bill.

Following a house vote last week in which the switch of four Arkansas congressmen was instrumental in sending the bill back to committee, Victor Riesel, a Washington columnist, said that the Arkansas governor had made mid-night long distance calls to the congressmen to change their vote.

They were Reps. Hays, Harris, Tackett and Norrell.

At the time, McMath declined to comment on the report, but the Arkansas congressmen denied that the governor had asked them to change their vote.

This morning, McMath told his news conference that he thought "that mystery" had been cleared up. But referring to a recent editorial in a Little Rock newspaper (the Arkansas Democrat) which speculated on the matter, the governor stated:

"No midnight call was made by me to members of congress at any time on any matter. Statements made by the members of congress are correct."

"I did not call them on the Wood bill."

Sunday. He was serving a five-year term for robbery. He has been sought in this area since Monday.
